Item 10. Financial statements of certain bidders

To satisfy the requirements of the City Code, financial information for Sema plc prepared in accordance with UK GAAP has been included in the tender offer materials. UK GAAP differs in certain material respects from US GAAP. A description of the differences between UK GAAP and US GAAP significant to Sema's financial statements was included in Sema's registration statement on Form F-4 (Registration number 333-11810). The significant differences in accounting principles have been excerpted from the Form F-4 as follows:

(i) Business combinations

Both US GAAP and UK GAAP require purchase consideration in respect of subsidiaries acquired to be allocated on the basis of fair values to the various net assets of the acquiree at the date of acquisition. The excess of purchase consideration over the fair value of net assets acquired is treated as goodwill. However, US GAAP also requires value to be assigned to any separately identifiable intangible assets, which would be amortized over their estimated useful lives not to exceed 40 years.

US GAAP requires goodwill to be recognized as an asset and amortised over its estimated useful life not to exceed 40 years. Under UK GAAP, for the years ended through December 31, 1997, goodwill may be written off directly against reserves. For the year ended December 31, 1998 onward, UK GAAP requires goodwill and any separately unidentifiable intangible assets to be recognized as an asset and amortised over its estimated useful life. Except in certain rare circumstances where a useful life can be regarded as infinite, there is a rebuttable presumption that the useful life does not exceed 20 years.

(ii) Earnings per share

The calculation and presentation of earnings per share (EPS) under UK GAAP differs from that required under US GAAP. In accordance with US GAAP, basic EPS is computed by dividing income available to common shareholders by the weighted average number of common shares outstanding for the year. The computation of diluted EPS is similar to basic EPS, except that it assumes the potentially dilutive securities, such as convertible loans, were converted to shares as of the beginning of the year or at the time of issuance, if later. In addition, US GAAP requires presentation of basic and diluted EPS using both income from continuing operations and net income.

(iii) Pensions

Under UK GAAP, the cost of providing pension benefits is expensed over the average expected service lives of eligible employees in accordance with the provisions of SSAP 24. SSAP 24 aims to produce an estimate of cost based on long-term actuarial assumptions. Variations from the regular pension cost arising from, for example, experience deficiencies or surpluses, are charged or credited to the profit and loss account over the expected average remaining service lives of current employees in the schemes.

Under US GAAP, the annual pension cost comprises the estimated cost of benefits accruing in the period as determined in accordance with SFAS 87, which requires readjustment of the significant actuarial assumptions annually to reflect current market and economic conditions.

(iv) Holiday pay

US GAAP requires that provisions for employees' future absences (holiday pay) shall be made on an accrual basis if (i) the employees right to receive compensation for future absence is due to past service, (ii) the obligation accumulates, (iii) the payment is probable and (iv) the amount can be reasonably estimated. There are no formal rules under UK GAAP and either the accrual or cash method is used in practice.

(v) Software development costs

It is Sema's policy to write off software development costs in the year in which they are incurred unless they are to be reimbursed by third parties. Under US GAAP, costs associated with the development of software products to be sold or otherwise marketed should be capitalized subsequent to the establishment of technological feasibility up until the product's general release. These costs should then be amortized over the estimated economic life of the software product.

(vi) Employee stock compensation

Under US GAAP, entities have a choice of methods for determining the costs of benefits arising from employee stock compensation plans, being either the "intrinsic value" method or a fair value method. Under the "intrinsic value" method, compensation cost is the difference between the market price of the stock at the measurement date and the price to be contributed by the employee. Under the fair value method, compensation cost is based on the estimated fair value of the option at the date of grant using an option pricing model which considers: the stock price at grant date, the exercise price and expected life of the option, expected volatility, expected dividend yield and a risk-free interest rate.

Under UK GAAP, except for options issued under Inland Revenue approved employee save as you earn (SAYE) schemes, compensation cost is the difference between the market value of the shares at the date of grant of the conditional award less contribution that the employee is required to make.

(vii) Dividends

Under UK GAAP, dividends proposed are provided for in the year to which they relate on the basis of recommendation by the Board of Directors for approval by the shareholders. Under US GAAP, dividends are recorded as a reduction in retained earnings only when they have been formally declared.

(viii) Contract accounting

Under US GAAP and UK GAAP income on contracts is recognized according to the percentage of the estimated total contract value completed or the achievement of contractual milestones. All contract losses are recognized as soon as incurred or foreseen. However, under US GAAP, the choice of recognition on a milestone basis is only permitted where the achievement of the milestone approximates the percentage of completion of the contracts.

(ix) Restructuring provisions on acquisitions

The requirements for making a provision for restructuring costs when a subsidiary is acquired are very prescriptive under both US GAAP and UK GAAP. Under UK GAAP, restructuring provisions cannot be made as part of fair value adjustments arising on an acquisition. Restructuring provisions created prior to the acquisition can be maintained only if they were demonstrably made prior to the management of the target company contemplating the transaction. These restructuring provisions were mainly severance related. Under US GAAP acquisition provisions are governed by EITF 95-3 which require specific criteria to be met such as the plan formulated at the acquisition date to terminate employees or exit an activity be finalized beyond one year from the consummation of the merger. If the provisions are utilized in years subsequent to the acquisition, a US GAAP difference arises to reverse the credit to the profit and loss account.

(x) Deferred taxation

Under UK GAAP, a provision is recorded for deferred taxation under the liability method to the extent that such taxation is expected to crystallize within the reasonable future. This means that the full potential liability is not necessarily provided. Additionally, deferred tax assets are recognized only when they are expected to be recoverable within the foreseeable future.

Under US GAAP, deferred tax is provided for on a full liability basis. Under the full liability method, deferred tax assets or liabilities are recognized for differences between the financial and tax basis of assets and liabilities and for tax loss carry forwards at the statutory rate at each reporting date. A valuation allowance is established when it is more likely than not that some portion or all of the deferred tax assets will not be realized.

(xi) Investments

Under UK GAAP, investments in marketable securities are recorded at cost. Under US GAAP, an adjustment to add the unrealized gain, net of related taxes, to the cost of the investment is made on available for sale securities.

(xii) Cash flow information

Under UK GAAP, the Consolidated Cash Flow Statements are presented in accordance with UK Financial Reporting Standard No. 1, as revised (FRS 1). The Statements prepared under FRS 1 present substantially the same information as that required under US GAAP as required by SFAS No. 95.

Under UK GAAP, the Company's cash comprises cash in hand and at bank (net of bank overdrafts). Under US GAAP, cash and cash equivalents include cash and short-term investments with original maturities of three months or less. Under US GAAP, bank overdrafts are classified within financing activities, and cash and cash equivalents are not offset by bank overdrafts repayable within 24 hours from the date of the advance, as is the case under UK GAAP.

Under UK GAAP, cash flows are presented for operating activities: dividends received from associated undertakings; returns on investments and servicing of finance; taxation; capital expenditure and financial investment; acquisition and disposals; equity dividends paid; management of liquid resources and financing. US GAAP requires the classification of cash flows as resulting from operating, investing and financing activities.

Cash flows under UK GAAP in respect of interest received, interest paid, investment income and taxation would be included within operating activities under US GAAP. Capital expenditure and financial investment and cash flows from acquisitions and disposals would be included within investing activities under US GAAP. Dividends paid by subsidiary undertakings, minority interests, equity dividends paid and management of liquid resources would be included within financing activities under US GAAP.

(xiii) Borrowings

Both UK and US GAAP require issue costs to be capitalized and amortized over the term of the borrowing to which they pertain. Under UK GAAP, issue costs are classified net of the borrowings to which they relate. Under US GAAP, issue costs are classified as an other long term asset.

(xiv) Contract maintenance

Under UK GAAP, the cost of the licence acquired is capitalized and amortized over the life of the contract. Under US GAAP, where the cost of a licence acquired includes future maintenance services, the fair value of the maintenance charge in these services must be imputed and amortized over the life of the contract.

(xv) Fair value adjustments

Under UK GAAP, fair value adjustments on acquisitions can only be revised at the second balance sheet date after an acquisition if they have been described as provisional in the accounts as at the first balance sheet date.

Under US GAAP, fair value adjustments can be revised for up to one year after the date of acquisition.

Item 11. Additional Information

Except as set out below, the information set forth in "Appendix IV-Additional Information" in the Offer Document is incorporated herein by reference.
